Ask your doctor what happens to cod-liver oil when it gets inside of you.

He will say it is shaken and broken up into tiny drops, becomes an emulsion; there are other changes, but this is the first.

He will tell you also that it is economy to take the oil broken up, as it is in Scott's Emulsion, rather than burden yourself with this work. You skip the taste too.

HERE'S A CHANCE, GIRLS,

Another Titled Foreigner Searching for an American Wife.

THIS ONE IS A MILLIONAIRE

Himself and Not a Fortune Hunter, in Which Respect He Differs from His Predecessors ... He Graduated from a Carpenter into a Baron with a Million--- He is Determined to Have a Wife and is on a Still Hunt.

NEW YORK, March 1 .- Among the guests at the Fifth avenue hotel is one who has been more talked about and canvassed during his brief sojourn there than any guest of recent times. He signs his name, "Sir George Northedge, Baronet," and one month ago he was a poor carpenter in Chicago. To-day he is an English noble, and, what is equally to the point, a millionaire.

George Northedge was a fairly good carpenter, but he did not get rich at the business. He seemed to have bad luck and never could lay up any money. His highest aspiration was to become a "boss carpenter," and get up a little shop for himself. As for becoming an English baronet and a millionaire he never baronet and a millionaire he never dreamed of such a thing.

So, one night, while he was enjoying the delights of having a good rest and quiet smoke after a hard day's work, he was greatly surprised to receive a call from a Toronto lawyer. All his past misdoings flashed through his mind, but he was somewhat reassured when the lawyer greeted him with the most profound deference and called him "Sir profound deference and called him "Sir George." He regarded his visitor as a mild sort of lunatic to be kept in a good humer and gotten rid of as soon as possible.

But his suspicion was soon changed to surprise. The lawyer told him he was sole heir to a title and two fortunes, one $000,000 and the other $250,000 and showed him the document to prove it. His great grandfather, Sir William Northedge, had just died after outliving every male member of the family for three generations, and George, the offshoot of one of the younger and forgotten branches, stepped from the carpenter's bench to a fine old estate, a title and a fortund title and a fortune.

DETERMINES TO GET MARRIED.

At first the new lord was rather dazed. but he did not go to work the next day and presented his tools and overalls to the first convenient tramp. Then he called in the best tailor in the Windy City and had an outfit of the most dazzling description built, without regard to expense. He then took up luxurious quarters at the Palmer House, where he might have quiet to think of what to do

After long cogitation he had an inspiration. He did not want to go to England alone and may be have to live in solitude in some desolate old mansion. He would find a wife. To this end he advertised far and wide. In his advertisement he told just what kind of a woman he wanted. The Of all the answers he received but one pleased him. It turned out to be from fourteen-year-old Gertrude Clark, of Winamoc, Ind. Her missive was a charming effusion. She told of her aspirations to become a titled lady and make things right lively in the effete society of Europe. Sir George was de-lighted and straightway visited the young woman and offered to marry her then and there.

Her parents, however, objected strongly. They had known nothing of her prank in answering the advertisement, and told the baronet that he needed an older woman than their daughter for a wife-more old enough to take ear of wife-one old enough to take care of

ON A STILL HUNT IN GOTHAM.

The disconsolate suitor then drifted to this city as has been said. He still has matrimonial longings, and it will be no fault of his if some New York girl does not become a baroness. He is not particular as to height or weight, and will conduct his search in a quiet, dignified way. He never studied the question of whether marriage is a failure, and looks upon it as a luxury which he can afford, and which his age and present standing in English society justify him in indulging.

Sir George is neither young nor giddy, and cannot play baccarat, but experi-ence and the nobility can teach him the latter, and to the boys at the hotel he expresses an ability to be just as giddy as the giddiest when he gets into the swing. His stay in this city will be comparatively short. His business is marriage to some or any lovely girl who is willing to exchange life in New York for a place among the English nobility.

LIMA BANK CLOSED

By Order of the Comptroller-The President Speculated Too Much.

Lima, O., March 1.—The Limanational bank of this city was closed this morning by Examiner G. II. Ford, on an order of the comptroller of the currency. The trouble is brought about by the speculations of the President, B. C. Faurot, who for the past four years has been engaged in extensive railroad and land projects in Mexico, which have resulted disastrously. As the crash was expected, it has caused little excitement and the other banks are uninjured.

Edward Field Insane.

New York, March 1 .-- In the Field case to-day Dr. Gray testified as to Field's insanity. Mr. Field, he said, be-lieved that the Czar of Russia and Jay Gould had bribed the employes of Lud-low street jail to give him poison. It was impossible, the doctor said, to assume the symptoms he manifested. In reply to a juror Dr. Gray said he thought Field was not responsible for his acts. JG

The Thieves Got the Reward.

PORTLAND, ORE., March 1.-Stage robbers relieved E. D. Huntley, a Chicago traveling man, of $12,000 worth of jew-elry near hero in January lart. He offered a reward of $2,000 for the recovery of the stolen property. His brother received a letter in which the thieves promised to return the jewelry for the reward, provided they were not prose-cuted. This was agreed to and the stolen property was returned yesterday.

"When I was a young man," said Jonathan Gray.

"If a follow took physic he know it, you bet.
It would cramp him all up in a collicky way,
And, good Lord, what a twistin his insides would get!
But the pills in use now-days by fensible folks
Are as easy to take and as pleasant as Jokes."

Of course the kind referred to by Mr. Gray was Dr. Pierco's Pleasant Pellets, the very best liver pill ever made—mild, but sure and effective. The only pills, sold by druggists, absolutely on trial! Satisfaction guaranteed, or your money is returned. WHOLESALE PRICES

The stock market failed to display either the animation or the strongth to-day of vesterday, and, while realizations were heavy in the stocks which have added the greatest advance, there was no lack of short sales to give the downward movement character and impetus. The leading feature of the market to-day was New England. As usual, its movements are not necounted for by any published chance, either in its management, its finances or its prospects. The only other feature in the market worthy of note was the increased animation and strength in the Nanderblis tocks in the afternoon. Rumor still connects the management of these properties with the supposed new deal with the Delaware & Hudsom despite the repeated; and official denials. The coalers were the weak, points, and the reactions from the high figures attained yesterday were heavy, but no by any means to be compared with their late gains. The strength in the Vanderblits seemed to have no influence upon the rest in the afternoon, and the market finally closed heavy at a fractional losses for the day.
